

Melanie from Krugersdorp-West, contacted us about a neighbouring house, where several cats were left behind, when their owners moved away. The cats have become wild from having to fend for themselves and we had to trap them with our cat traps. The cats were also thin and the one cat had a serious wound (probably from a dog) on her one leg.

On our first visit, we saw seven cats but only managed to trap 2 kittens. The next day, we trapped another kitten; the third day we trapped two “teenagers”, the fourth day an adult cat and the fifth day another adult cat. All 7 cats (6 tortoise shells and 1 grey-and white), were unsterilized females! We had them sterilised and eventually found good homes for all of them.
