

We came across these three emaciated dogs, on our house-to-house visits in Waterworks squatter camp, on short chains, with no food or water. The owner was not at home and the gate was locked. We asked all the neighbours, but no one seemed to know where we could find the owner.

We returned the next day and fortunately found a young boy at the house who told us where his father works. We arrived at his work place and gave him an ultimatum: either he surrenders his dogs to us and agrees to NEVER owning a dog again, or we make a criminal case against him.

Fortunately he agreed and all three dogs were taken into our care. We will do regular check-ups at his house to ensure that he keeps his promise!

The dogs are now recovering at FORA Animal Shelter in Roodepoort, from where they will be adopted out to loving homes.
